

Massachusetts Military Service Members
 Active Duty Deaths Revolutionary War – May 19, 2019

This research was compiled from the sources listed below and specific questions about these statistics are best directed to those sources. Note that different organizations and agencies use different definitions of the term “fallen”; where possible, we indicated which definition was being used. Also note that records prior to the Korean War were not centrally kept by the Department of Defense. These records were kept by individual military branches and are stored in the National Archives or local museums with the citations provided.

We gratefully acknowledge the Office of Senator John Kerry for their assistance in locating and compiling some of this data.

All branches	197	Massachusetts Military Heroes Fund records honor additional service members in our programs who died while on post 9/11/2001 active duty military service, or from wounds (physical and psychiatric) as a result of post 9/11/2001 active duty military service. In addition, we honor service men and women who may not have had Massachusetts listed as their home of record with the Department of Defense, but because of their connections to Massachusetts, we count them among our fallen heroes. Information about these heroes was obtained from the Massachusetts Department of Veterans Services and our colleagues in casualty services in different military branches.
